

Practical Placement Report on Library Services for Women's Affairs Information and Documentation Centre
By
Rose Maro
Diploma in Library and Information Studies, University of Botswana, 1991

This project was conducted in response to need that came from my department as one of the major courses taken in Diploma in Librarianship and Information Studies. Friday was chosen as a day for this practical placement and the project started from October 1990 to March 1991. While the project points to the areas of concern with respect to special libraries. My placement is set on Women's Affairs Information and Documentation Centre in Botswana. Mrs. Carol Manyemeny, a library assistant was responsible for my practical placement. The Women's Affairs Information and Documentation Centre in Botswana is still young and therefore does not have enough published materials to rely on for its information. As a result of this, I had to rely very much on interviews in order to obtain the necessary information.